

Miklouho-Maclay Park

Geographical Names Board

346 Panorama Avenue
PO Box 143
Bathurst NSW 2795

T: 1800 025 700

T: +61 2 6332 8214

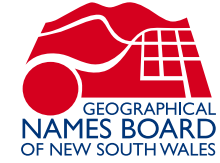

F: +61 2 6332 8217

E: gnb@lpi.nsw.gov.au

www.gnb.nsw.gov.au

Disclaimer

This document has been produced for marketing and communication purposes only.
Information is correct at time of printing and is subject to change without notice.
© March 2013 LPI (B) P13/13/013

www.gnb.nsw.gov.au

ISSN 2201-8514

March 2013

Multicultural Place Names in New South Wales

Place names provide a very important link between the community and the country in which it appears. Place names can commemorate important events or people specific to that community.

The New South Wales (NSW) Government encourages place names that acknowledge the multicultural nature of our society. For instance, the highest mountain in Australia, Mount Kosciuszko, was named by Paul Edmund Strzelecki in 1840 after his fellow countryman, Polish patriot, Tadeusz Kosciuszko.

The Geographical Names Board

The Geographical Names Board of NSW (GNB) is responsible for naming features such as mountains, rivers, beaches, parks and suburbs. The Board encourages all communities to put forward names for unnamed places and features in their local area.

The Board is asking communities to put forward names that highlight the cultural diversity in their area. In particular, the Board is encouraging proposals that commemorate the contributions made by migrants to Australia.

Names put to the Board should comply with the place naming guidelines published on GNB website, www.gnb.nsw.gov.au.

The Board will work with local councils and the community to establish these place names wherever it can.

Examples of multicultural names in NSW

Placename	Location	Country	Origin
Gelibolou Street	Auburn	Turkey	Turkish spelling for Gallipoli.
Rangihou Reserve	Parramatta	New Zealand	Maori name meaning new horizons, new dawning.
Mount Kosciuszko	Kosciuszko National Park	Poland	Named after Polish patriot, Tadeusz Kosciuszko.
Mihajlovic Reserve	Green Valley	Serbia	Vladimir Mihajlovic, a Yugoslav refugee helped establish a local Free Serbian Orthodox Church.
Brallos Park	Holsworthy	Greece	Brallos is a high mountain pass and a village in the Peloponnese Mountains.
Fortunato Foti Park	Prestons	Italy	Fortunato Foti was one of the founding members of the Marconi Club and a well known businessman and community leader of the Italian community in Sydney.
La Perouse	Eastern Sydney	France	A suburb named after the French navigator who entered Botany Bay a few days after Captain Phillip.
George Dan Reserve	Randwick	Lebanon	Named after George Dan who arrived in Australia from Lebanon as a 17 year old in 1884 and became a successful businessman.
Miklouho-Maclay Park	Snails Bay	Russia	Nikolai Miklouho-Maclay was an internationally acclaimed anthropologist, sociologist, biologist. He established the Southern Hemisphere's first marine biology station at Watsons Bay.

For more information

For advice or assistance on place naming in NSW contact:

Geographical Names Board
346 Panorama Avenue
Bathurst NSW 2795

T: 1800 025 700

T: +61 2 6332 8214

F: +61 2 6332 8217

E: gnb@lpi.nsw.gov.au

www.gnb.nsw.gov.au